

EU COOKIE LAW

There is a “hit counter” on this website, which records the number of visitors to the website. The information recorded is entirely anonymous, and is not used in any other way.

The EU has issued a cookie law to protect the public from gross misuse of cookies.

There's lots more information about cookies on the BBC website ...

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/privacy/cookies/about/>

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/technology-18206810> ... an interesting article about compliance of websites with EU law on cookies. “The ICO has also updated its policy to allow organisations to use "implied consent" to comply. This means users do not have to make an explicit choice. Instead, their continued use of a site would be taken to mean they are happy for information to be gathered.”

There is info about cookies on the Wikipedia site also ...

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/HTTP_cookie